HALESTORM

Widely acknowledged as one of modern hard rock's most explosive live acts, Grammy Award winning band HALESTORM recently released a third studio album "Into the Wild Life." Recorded last year in Nashville, Halestorm recently ascended to the top at Active Rock radio outlets nationwide in an astounding 9 weeks – the first time a female-fronted band has scored #1 hits at the format three times as well as the first to have #1 songs from two consecutive albums marking Halestorm as the fourth-ever female-led act to top the format more than once.

STONE SOUR

Critically-acclaimed STONE SOUR hails from Des Moines, IA and has produced six studio albums selling over 2 million records. Originally founded by Slipknot vocalist Corey Taylor, Stone Sour has received three Grammy nominations for Best Metal Performance and has won other countless awards such as Revolvers' Golden Gods Award. Corey Taylor comments on their newest release "Hydrograd:" "Those songs sound like if Alice in Chains grew up on the Sunset Strip, we've been talking about getting back to that big hard rock for years, and we've really embraced it. Everybody mistook that we're a metal band that plays rock and roll, when it's really the other way around."

Don't miss the opportunity to see both Halestorm & Stone Sour playing back-to-back at the Swiftel Center on February 8, 2018. Tickets on sale starting at 10:00 a.m. Friday, November 17 at the Swiftel Center Box Office, by phone at 800-745-3000, and online at www.Ticketmaster.com. Tickets are $53, $39, and $29.
